SECOND SUNDAY AFTER EPIPHANY Weekly Bulletin # 62
January 17, 1988 - - Green

"As Our Lord was in the days when He was on earth so He is now. He Does not change with the passing years, neither can our treatment of Him cause Him to alter. He is here with us in our churches, the same in Heart and in Mind as He was in those days when He pronounced the parables of the Prodigal Son and the Good Shepherd. As He never then showed coldness, aloofness or displeasure towards those who approached Him, no matter how stained their souls were with sin, He does not do so now. He looks out on us FROM THE TABERNACLE with the same yearning love, the same expectancy, the same hopefulness as He exhibited to all those whom He encountered whilst on earth. He is concerned about us as He was about those He taught on the shores of the Lake of Galilee, and those whom He compassionately fed in the desert. They were probably no better than we are. No matter how frequently we may have failed in His service, there is no reason why we should not have an absolute, childlike confidence in Jesus!!!"
