

THE PARABLE OF THE ADJUSTABLE SCHOOLMASTER A WORD TO THE WISE . . .

Once upon a time there was an adjustable Schoolmaster. People praised him and they listened with eagerness to the things he had to say. His followers trusted him.

They liked to send their children to him so that they could be taught by Him.

One of his admirers once asked him: "Schoolmaster, Sir, is the earth flat or round?"

With great authority proper to his important position as Schoolmaster, he answered:

"We teach it both ways."

The Shrine of our Lady of Perpetual Help.

St. Joseph in one of the outside Church Niches.

A GROUP OF MEN WHO HOPE TO OBSERVE
THE RULE EXACTLY AS
ST. BENEDICT
WROTE IT