We exist for the glory of God, and everything that we do is to be valued in the light of this. All other works and purposes are departures from our purpose and inappropriate for us. We are not called to convert the world by the power that we exert over souls; we have not been sent to prove, or to debate or to argue anything with anybody. Each one of us has been called to do battles in our own soul, and the degree to which we yield the victory to grace will be the degree to which we will influence the conversion of others. Our work must be to love God more and to express God's love by our example in the world around and about us.
