IN THE HEART OF MAN

The words that come forth from the heart of man must give expression to a profoundly filial and totally devoted love for God. This is best expressed in words that demonstrate a complete dependence on God our Father, Who is in Heaven, Whose Name is hallowed, and Whose Kingdom we must all work to protect – with our very lives, if necessary. Unfortunately, the idea of total dependence on God is very repugnant to the mind of modern man. Man, with all of his inventions, whose earthly security appears well provided for, feels that there is no need to look elsewhere for his security. He already has it, he thinks, and believes himself to be in control of it. Besides, dependence implies the assertion of placing utter trust in another's care, and such an assertion of trust calls for utter OBEDIENCE. When we speak of obedience, man runs – immediately – into the wall which has the word CONVERSIO carved upon it. It is idle folly to hide from that word CONVERSIO. Once upon a time, man turned away! Now he must turn around (like it or not) and go back – every inch of a steep and long road!
