

Merry Christmas to one and all!

PEACE

to all men of good will!

Dearest and best beloved Brothers and Sisters,

Greetings and blessings and joy and happiness be yours during this holy season. May the big and the little delights of this time be yours.

Be not afraid to enjoy whatever is good and wholesome for you and your family, but especially for your precious children.

It is understood that the blessed Mystery unfolding itself in a tiny stable is the reason for the occasion, and therefore must have the highest place of honor in the home. At the same time the magic of Christmas, the fairy tale of Christmas, must not be denied to the little children. Let the sugarplum fairies dance in their tiny and innocent heads. Let no room remain in their heads for the horror monsters that our sick world presents to them as symbols of normalcy and fun!

The spirit of "HOLY SIMPLICITY" should predominate during these days, not just for the tiniest ones, but equally for the older and the young. If there is Holy Simplicity within the household, the fullness of the charms of Christmas will be experienced by all. Leave nothing out that Christmas, in good order, has to offer to each member of the family. The properness of the various magic touches of Christmas in no way militates or takes away from the more glorious magnificence of Bethlehem, where there were angels to bring the joys of Heaven to poor, sinful, and disturbed mankind. While others meditate killing, stealing, anger, and hate, let us in our precious household – our HOLY Homes, meditate only on that which is beautiful and charming and pleasant and peaceful and exciting and above all HOLY. Even if just for a tiny amount of time, let us slam the doors of our homes in the face of a very ugly world. Give to your littlest children the very best of the best, and let them feel the warmth of a lovely and kindly and compassionate and safe family circle!

Let your hearts not be troubled by all the confusions that crash into your serenity each day. We speak here only of the various and sundry spiritual and religious confusions that are running rampant during these times of upheaval and uncertainly. So much literature is pushed upon us,
