

We Must Believe

Faith is not acquired by reading or information or debate or argumentative proving.

Faith is a gift. Faith is a pure gratuity of the all-wise and all-good God which is bestowed upon the humble of heart whose disposition shines with brilliant light before His eyes.

Once given, it has to remain constant - never wavering.

If ever our Faith becomes tarnished, it begins to die within us.

Once Faith dies, it becomes like a dead ember in a dead fire.
